

WE HAVE

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE!

FOR THE SOUL MIND & BODY

Lessons taught at societies, like the Freemasons who met in the Masonic Lodge, also worked to teach and improve people's minds and character. Or, visit the Physician's Home, to learn more about how the doctor applied the latest in scientific methods to heal the body. Have your spirits lifted by enjoying a variety show with period music performed daily in July to August 25th at Cook's Tavern. Visit Christ Church, Providence Chapel and the Lutheran Pastor's Home to learn about early Anglican, Methodist or Lutheran traditions and how early settlers worshipped and fed their souls.

HOME IS WHERE THE HEART IS

You will be impressed by the array of furniture, decorative elements, and "modern" devices that were available and part of family life when you drop into the Robertson Home, Pastor's Home, and Loucks Farmhouse. Whereas, Cook's Tavern, the Dressmaker's and Tenant Farm illustrate how many continued to depend on an open hearth. In addition to cooking, other important work such as quilting at Ross Farm, spinning and weaving at McDiarmid Home, and dress-making at the Dressmaker's also happened at home.

LIFE ON THE FARM

While some might dispute the claim that "Agriculture is the source of all wealth in society" clearly it was central to daily life, survival and progress in the 1860s. Visit Loucks Farm to see an impressive barn, livestock (don't miss the pigs!) and the horse-powered machinery of an established prosperous farm, the Tenant Farm to see how a family leasing land worked with simpler tools and oxen, or the Ross Farm, to find a horse-powered drag saw and learn about cordwood.

KITCHEN & GARDENS

Visit the working kitchens at the Loucks Farm and Tenant Farm to see what's on the menu! Preparing meals and preserving food for the winter months ahead was a time-consuming but important part of daily life. Orchards and the large kitchen gardens at Loucks Farm and Cook's Tavern were essential to provide this food. Other heirloom gardens at the Robertson Home and Crysler Hall were grown for personal enjoyment, to celebrate the natural world, and perhaps to make a statement.

MILLING AROUND

See in action, and explore the impressive ingenuity of settlers who harnessed water and steam power at the Woollen Factory, Flour Mill and Sawmill. Early mills processed wool, grain & logs harvested locally to provide valuable products such as cloth, flour and lumber. They also provided employment, and their operating machinery automated work in different ways, reminding us how the industrial revolution changed lives. Don't forget to drop in at the nearby Cooperage and Steam Engine House.

TRICKS OF THE TRADE

Explore the diverse and fascinating historical trades at the Blacksmith, Cabinetmaker, Cooperage, and Tinsmith shops. Also, learn about footwear and shoes at the home of the Shoemaker, or the art of printing at the Printing Office. Each trades person uses their unique skills and specialized tools to contribute to daily life in the 1860's. Watch them work, and ask about their latest ongoing project.

FOOD & COMMERCE

Many businesses in the 19th century, like Cook's Tavern, helped house and feed travelers and itinerant workers. Crysler's Store dispensed medicines, and sold foodstuffs as well as a wide variety of hardware, tools and household items. The Cheese Factory received and preserved milk by making cheese, one of Canada's first major export products. With bread being baked in a wood-fire oven daily, you'll probably smell the Bakery, before you open the door. Visit the Village Store to take home a delicious loaf of bread or cheddar cheese made right here at Upper Canada Village!

TRANSPORTATION

In the mid-19th century, travel was often difficult. People used available roads to walk, ride or drive a horse-drawn vehicle. They also travelled on the waterways and by rail. Keep an eye out for the variety of horse-drawn vehicles working from Cook's Tavern Livery service and Loucks Farm, from dump cart, farm wagon and surrey, to the Omnibus and Stagecoach. Upper Canada Village raises and trains more than 20 Canadian horses. And, don't miss a ride of your own on the Carry-all, Tow Scow and Miniature Train.
